

Kevin Whitehall

Kevin Whitehall is a member of the Washington Grain Commission and is the current county elevators representative to the WGC. He is also the manager of Central Washington Grain Growers

Whitehall has worked for Central Washington Grain Growers for 37 years. He started out as a warehouseman and has served in every other capacity working his way to the top, which he assumed in 2001.

His serves on the boards of Tri-Cities Grain, the Genetic Marketing Group, and Tri-State Seed. Whitehall is past president of the Pacific Northwest Grain and Feed Association and past president of the North Pacific Grain Growers.